Mary Leah Miller graduated with a B.A. from Duke University. She then entered Cumberland School of Law at Samford University, where she obtained her law degree, with a Certificate in Trial Advocacy. While at Cumberland, Mary Leah was extremely active in the trial advocacy program. She was a member of the National Trial Advocacy Team and served on the Trial Advocacy Board. Mary Leah was also a member of the American Journal of Trial Advocacy and was elected to the Honor Court. She was selected as a Who's Who Among Students In National College and Universities, and is a national member of the Order of Barristers.

Mary Leah has focused her legal career exclusively on representing individuals who have been injured. While she has handled a variety of personal injury cases, Mary Leah's practice is primarily focused on product liability actions, with an emphasis on automotive crashworthiness. She has represented individuals who have been catastrophically injured or killed against foreign and domestic manufacturers of various products, including vehicles, tires, motorcycles, prescription drugs, consumer products, and medical devices.

Mary Leah and her husband, Rodney, who is also an attorney, have two very spoiled dogs. She is active in the community serving at the Birmingham Dream Center, in her church, Church of the Highlands, and the Junior League of Birmingham. Mary Leah enjoys watching and attending sporting events, particularly basketball and football, running, traveling, and cooking.
