Mike Morrill grew up outside of Albany, New York and received his B.A. cum laude in 2010 from Binghamton University in the State University of New York system with a double-major in History and Philosophy, Politics, & Law. Mike then went on to attend the University of Georgia School of Law in Athens where he graduated cum laude in 2013. During law school, Mike was a member of the Georgia Journal of International and Comparative Law's editorial board and completed a summer internship in London, England through the Georgia Global Internship Program. Upon graduation, Mike moved to Columbus, Georgia and served a two-year term as law clerk to United States Magistrate Judge M. Stephen Hyles in the US District Court for the Middle District of Georgia. Following the completion of his term, Mike joined the District Attorney's Office for the Chattahoochee Judicial Circuit as an Assistant District Attorney doing trial and appellate work.

Mike joined Pope McGlamry in 2017 where his practice is focused on the representation of plaintiffs in class actions and qui tam/false claims litigation. Mike is active in the community, serving on the Finance Committee at his church, St. Thomas Episcopal Church. Mike and his wife, Eliza, have twin sons and daughter who keep them very busy, and Mike spends his rare moments of spare time on the golf course.
